The Christmas Story

THERE was peace on the lone Judean hills,
And the shepherds watched their flocks by night,
When there came from the silent, starry sky
A burst of glory, a dazzling light,
And the angel choir from far away
Sang "Peace on earth, good will to men,"
And we hear the song o'er lapse of years
As it echoes in our hearts again.

They sang in notes of heavenly joy;
They brought a message from God to men,
For the Prince of Peace had come to earth
And a child was born at Bethlehem.

The Christ had come, the King of kings,
That we might God in his beauty see
And hearts be light in blessed hope
That death should be swallowed in victory.

And they left their flocks and hastened on
To the city of David to see the babe,
The Saviour of men and the Son of God.
The humble child in a manger laid,
And they marvel at that which had come to pass
And return with glory and praise to God,
While the chorus echoes within their hearts
As back to the lonely hills they plod.

As the shepherds of old, let us hasten on
This Christmas day to Bethlehem town,

To be with him through the whole of life,
To bear the cross and to gain the crown.
No more shall we find him a lowly child,
But there forever with God above
He watches and guides our feeble steps
Till he bears us home with his infinite love.

How sweetly, how gladly to all the world
There comes a message of hope to-day,
For Christ is born and man is free
And pain and sorrow must pass away.
How sweetly and silently into the heart
The Christ Child comes this blessed night
To make us noble and good and true,
For the light of the world is a wondrous light.

Dear Christ, may we follow with willing hearts
The path of duty, where thou hast led,
That sin and shame may have an end
And that joy

may fill our souls instead,
And on this thy glorious natal day
We shall catch the sound as the glad bells ring
Till we hear thy summons to come away
And in heaven above thy praises sing.

Servant Problem an Old One.

Parson Cole, who lived in the middle of the 18th century, judging from one of his manuscripts, was quite familiar with the servant difficulty, which apparently was just as acute as in these later days. The reverend gentleman's entry is as follows:

"Paid Mary her wages, and would not let her stay, as she refused to stop with me till Michaelmas. I don't know where to provide myself of one in her room, but 'Wilkes and Liberty' have brought things to that pass that ere long we shall get no one to serve us."

CHRISTMAS FACTS IN BRIEF

Day Celebrated as Christian Festival for Centuries—Holly Once a Sacred Plant.

Christmas day is the anniversary of the birth of Christ, and has been celebrated as a Christian festival for several centuries. The Christmastide lasts from the 25th of December to the 6th of January, the twelfth day after Christ's nativity.

The origin of the Christmas tree is obscure; the thought of Christ as the Light of the World and the Tree of Life may have given rise to the light-bearing tree, or the popular old belief that every Christmas eve, trees blossomed and bore fruit, may have been the foundation of the custom.

Gift-giving is, of course, the echo of the Wise Men's gifts; and mince pie, turkey and plum puddings are modern relics of the pagan feasts. Santa Claus, known to every child in every land in this old world is the personification of the spirit of loving and giving.

The holly, synonymous of Christmas, was a sacred plant, and the mistletoe a mysterious plant, supposed by the ancient Druids to have some mystic power of healing and preventing misfortune. It was never allowed to touch the ground, hence the modern superstition that it is unlucky for a mistletoe bough to fall from its place. It was dedicated to the Goddess of Love, which explains the custom of kissing under the mistletoe.

Last Christmas a young man was invited to dinner at the house of one of the leading men in the town. At the dinner table he was placed opposite a goose.

The lady of the house was seated on the young man's left. Seeing the goose, he remarked:

"Shall I sit so close to the goose?"

WONDER AT FOREST'S QUIET

Travelers Have Frequently Commented on Apparent Deficiency of Animal Life in the Woods.

European travelers frequently allude to the American forest as remarkable for its solitude and deficiency of animal life. A foreigner is struck with surprise, when rambling through the bush, at the scarcity of birds, rabbits, and hares, and astonished when in the deepest recesses of the wild country he sees no increase of their numbers. When paddling his canoe through lake and river he will startle but few pairs of exceedingly timid waterfowl, where in Europe they swam in multitudes. This scarcity of animals, I would remark, is not peculiar to the American wilderness. The same fact has been observed in extensive forests both in Europe and Asia; and in proportion as the traveler penetrates into their interiors he finds a smaller number of animals of almost every species. Birds, insects and quadrupeds will multiply in a certain ratio with the progress of agriculture, so long as there remains a sufficiency of wild wood to afford them a refuge and a home. They use the forest chiefly for shelter, and the open grounds for forage; the woods are their house, the meadows their farm.—Wilson Flagg, in "Woods and By-Ways of New England."

Santa Starts Off

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union)

"SANTA CLAUS' dog, Boy of the North, was barking," said Daddy, "for there was great excitement up North.

"The excitement was, as perhaps you may be able to guess, that Santa Claus was about to start his trip.

"'I have more things to do this year than ever before, it seems to me," said Santa Claus.

"Boy of the North wagged his tail and gave funny little short barks which was his way of laughing. 'You say that every year,' he was trying to tell Santa Claus, as he put his cold nose in Santa's hand and rubbed up beside him.

"The reindeer were waiting. The bells on their reins were jingling and the sleigh was filled with packs and packs of toys.

"'Now, let me see,' said Santa Claus. 'There are many shops were packs await me. The children have written to me about the things they have seen and of what they want.

"Good-Bye," Shouted Santa.

That is why I like the stores to have so many of my toys. The children get a good idea of what they want.

"'Then they write me letters, the precious dears! They write of what they want and how much they care for me and how much they love their sisters and brothers and mothers and daddies and playmates and dogs and other pets.

"'But I musn't stop to think of all these letters for I must get started, for I've a long way to go.'

"He knew he had to start soon for the reindeer could hardly wait any longer, and were trying to hurry him.

"'I won't be late,' said Santa Claus. 'I have never been late yet—and I've been doing this trip—this trip to the lands where there are children—for a good many years.'

"And the reindeer made queer sounds and jingled their bells again for they knew Santa Claus was right, but still they were in a great, great hurry!

"They were thinking of the roofs they would dash across. Oh, how anxious they were to start!

"And Boy of the North was anxious too for them to start, for although he didn't go with them, he longed to see them come back and hear about the trip.

"'Yes,' continued Santa Claus, 'I must get the packs from the different shops. I know just what all the children want.

"'Then I must keep a good many engagements I've made—promises to appear at some big Christmas trees, although I never let the children see me when I'm arriving with my pack. Oh no, that's my fun—to keep all that a great, great secret.

"'And they love secrets, the little dears! Now let me see—have I the nuts and raisins, the bright new pennies for some of the stockings and the big oranges, too! Yes, we're really and truly ready at last.'

"When Santa Claus said 'We're ready,' the reindeer pranced, Boy of North barked and Santa Claus sprang into the sleigh.

"Off went the reindeer with Santa Claus and the toys, games and countless other things for Christmas morning.

"'Good-bye, Boy of the North,' shouted Santa Claus. 'Good-bye, dear old North home, good-bye everyone and everything.

"'I'm off on my big trip of the year.'

"And as he shouted this the reindeer were almost out of sight and the last that could be seen of Santa Claus was as he waved his red cap with the red tassel.

"'Now,' said Boy of the North, 'I will have everything ready for him when he gets back.'

"So the dog got Santa Claus' slippers and his heavy, warm winter wrapper which his master wore when he wasn't working. He put them near the fire, but not too near. For he knew Santa Claus would be gone quite a long time and when night had passed and the next day had come, even though it was not bright, he would then move them very near the fire and have them ready.

"And Boy of the North fell asleep and dreamed and his dreams were happy as his life always was, for you can imagine how happy the dog of Santa Claus must be."

XMAS SALES OF U. S. SECURITIES WILL BE HEAVY

Government Asks Everyone to Give War Savings Stamps as Gifts

Sales of War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates to the banks of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, in anticipation of a heavy holiday demand of these securities for Christmas presents, are greater than for any period during 1919, according to reports of the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank. As early as November 20 the bank reported shipment on that date of $60,200 worth of Treasury Savings Certificates, to eighteen banks of the district. This was the largest amount of these securities shipped on any one day up to that date since the close of the war.

Conservative estimates predict that the demands of banks alone throughout the district will reach the quarter of a million dollar mark for the holiday trade in War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates. This is not taking into consideration tremendous demands looked for from the post-offices.

The Government is making an intensive appeal to the people of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District to give War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates for Christmas presents, not only because America needs every cent she can get to finance her war debt of twenty-six billions of dollars, but also to stabilize prices as much as possible by cutting down the demand for luxuries. Most Christmas presents fall under the head of luxuries.

In a letter to the banks of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District on the subject, Governor John U. Calkins of the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank said:

"The Christmas holidays are almost upon us. Everything points to a tremendous outlay of money in the purchase of holiday gifts, the greater portion of which I think I am safe in saying will be luxuries. The present situation demands not that more money be spent in the purchase of luxuries, but that we curtail as much as possible, with the consequent beneficial contraction of credit.

"Therefore, I appeal to you as a fellow banker to do everything within your power to stimulate the purchase and giving of War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates as Christmas presents in place of the usual needless and expensive gifts. It seems to me that the responsibility of leading men's minds along the ways of thrift and simple living rests to a great extent upon the bankers of the country and in asking you to push the sales of Treasury securities during the Christmas holidays, I am asking you only to take advantage of an opportunity to meet this responsibility."

In addition, Christmas posters carrying an appeal to give War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates for Christmas presents will be distributed throughout the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, and all banks have been asked to include a similar appeal in their advertising.

Christmas is not just a day of tree-trimming and toy-giving for the kiddies—not just a holiday for youngsters to outgrow. Its spirit is of the heart, the soul—communal between us and all those whom we hold dearly as our friends. It changes not, however we may. May its glow be reflected for you through all the coming year.

Sailors on Tropic Seas Appreciate Incident Which Varies the Monotony of the Voyage.

Whoever has sailed a tropic sea will appreciate Mr. William Beebe's description in the American Museum Journal of a school of playful dolphins that appeared suddenly from the depths and adopted for their playfellow the ship upon which he was sailing.

It was a lazy, tropical morning, writes Mr. Beebe, and the engines seemed to throb in a half-somnolent manner. I folded up in a desk chair and idly watched the beautiful profile of the island astern.

Suddenly the sea became alive with virile beings—curving steel-gray bodies that shot forth like torpedoes from some mighty battery. I thrilled in every fiber, and the sloth of the tropics fell from me as by a galvanic shock. The dolphins had come! Usually they appear in their haunts between Dominica and Martinque, but here they were in dozens, leaping for breath with the regularity of machinery. Now and then, in a spirit of play, one of them vaulted high in the air, ten feet above the surface, twisted and fell broadside with a slap that could be heard half a mile away. A school came close alongside, slackened speed to that of the vessel, and now and then dived beneath and appeared off the opposite quarter. Another trick was for one or two to station themselves just ahead of the bow and to remain there motionless, urged on by the pressure of the water from behind. It was unexpected and splendid to have this battalion of magnificent cetaceans, bursting with vital energy and fullness of life, injected without warning into the calm quiet of this tropic sea.

MY CHRISTMAS TREE.

O n
Christmas morning when I wake and sleep-dust from my eyes I shake, I see a sight that makes me start and causes thumpings in my heart; A Christmas tree—oh, pretty sight—with candles, bells and balls alight.
With horns and dolls and sugar plums, and skates and trains and beating drums. And, oh, it is a wonder tree, with heaps of things for me to see. Rare gifts hang upon the side, which tinseled fairies cannot hide. A soldier doll, a doll house, too, and strings of gold come to my view, and as I look I seem to hear sweet Christmas music, soft and clear.
A merry Christmas, it seems to say,
A merry, happy, holy day!

Fine Old Gentleman Passes Away

Samuel O'Connell, after several months' illness, passed away on Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. S. Slevin.

Mr. O'Connell was born in St. Louis on February 5, 1850, and was baptized by the famous Jesuit missionary, Father De Smet. He started west at the age of seventeen. He was one of the best informed men on historical and industrial matters relating to the Dskotas and Montana, having engaged actively in various lines of development.

During his brief residence here he endeared himself to many, and his passing is genuinely regretted. He leaves a widow, who resides here, a daughter, Mrs. L. S. Slevin, another daughter, Mrs. Harry Mifford, of Birney, Montana, two sons, Walter and Joe, of San Francisco and Sacramento.

The funeral takes place at 9:30 this morning from San Carlos Church, Monterey. The pall-bearers are J. F. Deventdorf, F. R. Bechdolt, J. L. Williams, Dr. C. A. McCollom, J. W. Hand and W. L. Overstreet.

Boosts and knocks

By Observer

Well, here we are, still on earth, though the world's end was doped out to come yesterday. Maybe someone failed to deliver at the last minute. I should worry when we close our books so long as we all go together. I'd hate like anything to leave Bechdolt, Hilliard, Hopper and the rest of the good dancers to enjoy all the Paul Jones while I formed a "cirkel" around a big fire, maybe with my partners wearing tails.

Heard the other day we were going to have bakery in town again, probably to open April 1. Here's hoping it wont prove an April Fool joke. Measured by the present price of doughnuts, the only part we will be able to buy in April will be the hole.

And we are to have a new meat shop, too. Good! In another week or so I might have become a vegetarian. Some days one can phone to Monterey, but most days not. I have enjoyed (?) more meatless days recently than when the war was in full swing.

Wonder if there is a speed law in Carmel? If there is, the municipal coffers might be enriched somewhat if our Marshal will exercise a little vigilance along Camino Real. I don't imagine the property owners put up their good cash to make a speedway.

If Ernest Schweninger would just place a "Help Yourself" placard on that box of dates, he would probably get rid of them much more quickly. The number of people having a date with the box last Saturday was surprising. Alice did not collect on all of them, either, I'll tell the world.

The Arts and Crafts Club plans to produce "A Night Off" on New Year's Eve. Practically the original Carmel cast will be seen in the comedy. The fact that they are going to make a night out of it is evidenced from the decision to give a dance afterward. I'm afraid Carmel is beyond redemption. Why some folks will be out until almost midnight.
